

W

GLOBAL HEALTH TUESDAY

A HUMAN RIGHT TO HEALTH: FROM PUBLIC HEALTH TO CONSTITUTIONAL LITIGATION

with Heinz Klug, S.J.D., Evjue-Bascom Professor in Law, University of Wisconsin-Madison Law School

Half of the world's population is lacking access to getting the necessary health services they need. Repeatedly, the World Health Organization has called for health care to be a fundamental human right. In this talk, Klug will discuss how this promise has shaped the way the WHO approaches public health. He will also explore how this claim has impacted debates over different approaches to public health, access to health care and the implications for the governance of global health.

LEARN MORE: ghi.wisc.edu

TUESDAY
FEBRUARY 26, 2019

4:30-5:30 p.m.

UW School of Nursing
Cooper Hall Auditorium

Global Health Institute
UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN-MADISON